An ESSAY on the MODERN NOVEL.

IT is a Misfortune incident to human Nature that its finest Qualities may be perverted to the most destructive Ends. Love, the brightest Spark that enlightens the Soul, burns frequently for the impurest Purposes, and lends its Rays too often to inflame the Eyes of Lust, and to light the Adulterer to his Couch. Having erected his Ethpire, in a greater or less Degree, in every Breast, he reigns every Where. There is never a Mother's Son between this and the Antipodes, from beardless sixteen up to gray Beard sixty, who has not struggled at some Period of his Life in the Cytherean Net, and confessed the Power of the blind God. But let them describe the Impulses that push them forward into the Snare, and you will find they have worshipped some other Deity than real Love; some Usurper, who has borrowed his Name and Authority. From the Beginning it has been so, and to the End it will continue so; for the present Age, with all its Refinements, is more distant from the Knowledge of real Love than were our Forefathers of the fifth Century.

It would be an amusing Study, to a speculative Mind, to observe how this fascinating Something has played upon the Folly and Invention of Mankind through all Ages. It has exhibited its Pranks and Whimsies in a Thousand different Scenes, and, in every Shape that Vanity of Fancy could devise, has paid its Addresses to the Heart. Love is the Proteus of Heaven; and had the Ancients known the full Extent of its Qualities, and seen what we have seen, no Doubt they had given him the proper Attributes of that Character.

But of all the Artillery which Love has employed to brighten Eyes, and soften Hearts, the most effectual and forcible is the modern Novel. Of all the Arrows which Cupid has shot at youthful Hearts, this is the keenest; there is no resisting it. It is the literary Opium, that lulls every Sense into delicious Rapture; and, respecting the Bias of a young Lady's Mind, One may venture to turn out the Nobles and Reason *, with Half a Dozen of their greasy combustible Duodecimos, against the Nurse, the Mother, and the Common Prayer Book——ay, and they would conquer them too. These Gentlemen are real Patriots, never failing Friends to the Propagation of the human Species. They have counteracted all the Designs of the British Senate against Matrimony; and, in Contempt of the Marriage Act, Post Chaises and young Couples run smoothly on the north Road. All this, and more, we owe to Novels; which have operated like Electricity on the great national Body, and have raised the humble Spirit of Citizens to a Parallel with the veriest Romp of Quality in the Coterie.

But, what charms all Ranks of People in these Productions, is the Manner. Unrestrained by that disgusting Simplicity, that timid Coyness, which checked the Fancies of former Ages, the modern Muses are stark naked; and it were no vague Assertion to declare, that they have contributed, more than any other Cause, to debauch the Morals of the Young of the fair Sex. Novels, according to the Practice of the Times, are the powerful Engines with which the Seducer attacks the female Heart; and, if we judge from every Day's Experience, his Plots are seldom laid in vain. Never was there an apter Weapon for so black a Purpose. Tricked out in the Trappings of Taste, a loose and airy Dishabille, with a staggering Gait and a wanton Eye, the modern Muse trips jauntily on, the true Child of Fashion and Folly. By tickling the Ear, she approaches the Heart, and soon ruins it; for, like all other Prostitutes, she is plausible and insinuating, and has "her winning Ways." A wretched Levity of Thought, delivered at Random in an incoherent Style, passes current for Sentiment; and so alertly has this mental Jargon played its Part, that our young Ladies begin to throw out Steele and Addison to make Room for H—— and De Vergy. An ingenious Author of this Age has given us, in a few Lines, the following admirable Receipt to make a modern Novel:

Take a Subject that's grave, with a Moral that's good,
Throw in all the Temptations that Virtue withstood;
And pray let your Hero be handsome and young,
Taste, Wit, and fine Sentiment, flow from his Tongue;
And his delicate Feelings be sure to improve
With Passion, with tender soft Rapture, and Love.
Add some Incidents too, which I like above Measure,
Such as those, I have read, are esteem'd as a Treasure
In a Book that's entitled The Woman of Pleasure;
Mix well, and you'll find 'twill a Novel produce
Fit for modest young Ladies, to keep it for Use.

To do Justice to the Bard, he has chalked out the Outlines very gracefully, and justly described the Ingredients for making this literary Pill operate against Morality. But, lest any Reader should mistake the Author's Meaning, here follows a Letter, worked up to the very Humour of the Times, and stamped with the true current Mark and Signature of 1772. It is fraught with Style, Manner, and Sentiment; and the next worthy Gentleman who gives a three Guinea Novel, in two Volumes, is welcome to insert it in his Work.

Lady Juliana Glanville to Miss Henrietta Wentworth.

"Heigh ho! Wentworth! who would have thought it? What a foolish Thing is a fond fluttering Heart! How often have you told me what Metal mine was made of! Hard as it was, O'Brien's Eyes have melted it. The dear Youth saw, and conquered. Your Friend is no longer free. O the dear enchanting Scenes around Glanville Castle, that once delighted my innocent Hours! Ye lowering Forests, Myrtle Shades, Crystal Streams, and cooing Turtles, ye have no more Charms for me; none, unless O'Brien be there.

Rocks, from your Caves, repeat the plaintive Strains,
And let the mournful Tale be echo'd o'er the Plains.

And so, my Dear, I'll tell you how it was; I went last Night to the Grove Assembly, in Company with the Miss Seymours and that Fright Blufton. By the Bye, my Dear, is not that Fellow a dreadful Creature? Huge and horrid! how I hate him! So, my Dear, as I was saying, we all went together. I dressed in my white Satin and Silver, and my Hair pinned up with my new Barbelot's Brilliant (a-propos, how do you like my last Suit of Brussels) and, just as we were going to cross the Stile, who should I see peeping in on the other Side of the Hedge but O'Brien! lovely and enchanting as he was when I saw him last Winter at Carlisle House! I instantly feigned Illness, and turned up the Lane to return; when O'Brien, with an Angel's Swiftness, flew over the Hedge, and we both dissolved in Tears. Oh, sweet Sensibility! what more my Heart formed with more than Woman's Softness! why was O'Brien formed with more than manly Grace! It was in a Bower composed of Honeysuckles and Jasmine that we reclined; the dear Youth spoke a Thousand tender Things with his Eyes, and I answered him with Sighs and with Blushes. Seated in a deep-embowering Shade, Lips trembling, Hearts beating, locked in each other's Arms, what a dangerous Situation! and the Discourse on Love!

——And oh! his charming Tongue
Was but too well acquainted with my Weakness!
He talk'd of Love, and all my melting Heart
Dissolv'd with in my Breast.

Do you know, Wentworth, that I was violently inclined to play the Fool? We found ourselves lavishing Encomiums on disinterested Love, and a Cottage. His Description was animated, to the last Degree. My whole Attention was engrossed. He held my Hand, tenderly prest between his, while I listened to his soothing Tale. His Eyes were still more eloquent than his bewitching Tongue.

I was almost a lost Woman; when, fortunately for me, the Idea of squalling Brats, and matrimonial Bitters, darted across my Thoughts. Up I sprang. A fine Day for a Walk, cried I; and away I tripped. I had Nothing for it but Flight. He followed me, dejected, his Arms folded. He looked amazingly handsome. But Prudence kept her Seat in my Breast. Prudence, you know, is the Foil of Love. We strolled towards the House, without any other Conversation, except expressive Sighs on his Side; Half-stifled Ones, and stolen Glances, on mine. I flew to the Harpsichord, to rouse my Spirits. He drew a Chair near me; and, leaning on the Instrument, fixed his languishing Eyes on my Face. My Fingers involuntarily touched soft plaintive Notes. Instead of a sprightly Air, out came a Ditty as melancholy as "The Babes in Wood." He perceived my swimming Eyes; he perceived my Confusion; and, snatching the Moment of Love, he threw himself on his Knees, looked moving, and swore that,

While youthful Splendour lighten'd in my Eyes;
Clear as the smiling Glory of the Skies,
More white than Flax my curling Tresses flow'd,
My dimpled Cheeks with rosy Beauty glow'd.

Enchanting Lines! are not they, Wentworth? Well! and what followed, you ask me. Ay, there's the Rub; but positively you shan't know till my next Letter. Heigh, ho! Adieu, Henrietta, and tell me how your Affair with the Baronet goes on. Adieu, my Dear, and remember your sighing, and almost ruined Cousin,

JULIANA GLANVILLE."

What Effect such graceless Raptures, and broken Periods, may produce on untutored Minds, let ten Thousand Boarding Schools witness. This Contagion is the more to be dreaded, as it daily spreads through all Ranks of People; and Miss, the Tailor's Daughter, talks now as familiarly to her Confidant, Miss Polly Stay-tape, of Swains and Sentiments, as the accomplished Dames of genteel Life. In a Word, if a Man of Sense has an Inclination to choose a rational Woman for his Wife, he reaches his grand Climacterick before he can find a fair One to trust himself with; so universal is the Corruption! These are the fatal Consequences of Novels!

CONSTANTINOPLE, February 12.

THE Porte begins to think seriously of curbing the Ambition of Ali Bey, and driving him out of Syria and Egypt, before he gets too strong a Footing there; on which Account five or six Bashaws have received Orders to march against him, with all the Troops they can get together.

February 15. A strong Report prevails that Ali Bey hath taken an Oath of Fidelity to the Russians, by the Assistance of whose Fleet he has made himself Master of Cyprus, and ceded to them a Port of that Island. It is farther said, that the Russians, having a free Navigation in the Kingdom of Egypt, are going to Alexandria to get Provisions.

We do not see any great Likelihood of a speedy Conclusion of Peace. It is ten Days since a Russian Commissary was said to be on his Way for this Capital, to negotiate a treaty of Pacification; but it seems so improbable, that few People believe the Truth of it.

February 17. No less than five Fires have happened here within the Space of fifteen Days, by which several Thousand Houses have been reduced to Ashes.

WARSAW, February 26. The Advices we received in Relation to the Signature of the Preliminaries for a Peace between the Russians and Turks are not confirmed; neither has Count Saldern, the Russian Ambassadour, published any Thing in Relation to it. On the contrary, the Russians are making the greatest Preparations for another Campaign.

February 28. Notwithstanding the positive Assurances received, a few Days ago, of Preliminaries of Peace being signed between the Russians and Turks, we have no Confirmation of the News as yet; nor doth the Russian Ambassadour say a Word about it.

We are informed that the Orders from the Court of Petersburg are to set on Foot ten Regiments of light Troops, and to continue vigorously the Levies for the Regiments of Hungarian Hussars commanded by Colonel Drewitz; and that the three Squadrons which are in Moldavia, with the Count Romanzow, have received Orders to march towards this City.

RATISBON, March 23. They write from Transylvania that there will be some Encampments this Year; and notwithstanding a vast Number of Austrian Troops is already in those Parts, four Hungarian Regiments have received Orders to go there. Large Magazines are forming at Konigsgratz, Prague, and other Towns of Bohemia.

MILAN, March 12. One of our greatest Bankers is just gone off. His Coffers are almost empty, and it is said that the Inhabitants of this City are likely to be Sufferers to the Amount of near eight Hundred Thousand Livres.

COPENHAGEN, March 14. At the Request of the College of Finances, the Commission of Inquisition have referred to the Examination of the Commissioners Prætorius and Koll the Papers found among the Letters of Counsellor of Justice Struensee, concerning the Money which belonged solely to his Department. We are assured that Nothing has been discovered to render his Conduct reprehensible on that Account.

Count Struensee, since his last Examination, hath been permitted to drink Wine and smoke Tobacco.

PARIS, March 23. The 8th of this Month, at Seven in the Evening, Mr. Montague discovered a Comet, at Limoges, near the Star Mu, of the fourth Magnitude, in the Constellation Eridanus.

LONDON, April 2.

THE Earl of Chatham, we hear, purposes to go to the Spaw for the Recovery of his Health; and it is said that before his Return from the Continent he will see the Court of Berlin, where there is little Doubt of his being a most acceptable Visiter.

The Person who was cast for Transportation for stealing a Number of Silver Spoons at the Entertainment given by Sir Watkin Williams Wynne, at Shrewsbury, we are told, was possessed of an Estate of two Hundred Pounds a Year, besides four Thousand Pounds in ready Cash, which he assigned over to Trustees for his Son.

We hear that Mr. Wilkes intends offering himself a Candidate for the Office of Lord Mayor for the enfuing Year.

Letters from France mention the celebrated Rouſſeau's having married his old Houſekeeper, who made ſuch a Figure in the Diſpute between Mr. Hume and him.

A Correſpondent thinks that the Recall of Baron Dieden, at this Juncture, wears an ominous Appearance, eſpecially as no Miniſter is talked of to ſucceed him. The Report of his going to Ruſſia, in the ſame Character he holds here, our Correſpondent thinks a Pretext that may be very eaſily ſeen through; and, therefore, he does not heſitate to pronounce his Expectation of a ſpeedy Rupture between Great Britain and Denmark.

The Ruſſic Revenue for Great Britain amounted laſt Year to upwards of four Millions Sterling.

One Dunkirke, a Dutchman, who had engroſſed a conſiderable Quantity of Corn, near Newport, in Flanders, was, on the 15th of laſt Month, ſeized by a numerous Mob, who pulled down his Houſe, after dividing his Corn and other Proviſions, and carried him down to the Sea Coaſt, where they tied his Hands behind him, and put him in a ſmall old Boat and towed him out to Sea, where they left him to die that Death which they ſaid he had been the Means of inflicting on ſeveral of his Neighbours.

Extract of a Letter from Woodbridge, in Suffolk, March 20.

"It is impoſſible to deſcribe the Diſtreſſes of the Poor in this Part of the Country, for Want of Bread Corn. It is not occaſioned by a bad Harveſt, for we had a very good One, and well got in, and many Farmers have now 100 Years Crops by them; but they will not bring it to Market, ſaying they can make a greater Advantage of it, by ſending it to your City. But it is ſtrongly ſuſpected, that, inſtead of coming thither, it goes to feed the French; and three Days ago we were confirmed in our Opinion, by ſome Words let drop by a Sailor belonging to a Veſſel which lay in a ſmall Creek within four Miles of this Town to take in Corn, that they were bound to Dunkirk. Upon which a Number of People aſſembled, went to the Place where the Veſſel lay, ſeized all the Corn, which they divided amongſt themſelves, and then ſet Fire to the Veſſel. Had they not been in ſuch Hurry, they might have met with a large Booty, as ſeveral Waggons were on the Road loaded with Corn to the ſame Place, and about a Score of fine fat Sheep. The Maſter and Crew made off, and have not ſince been heard of. The Farmer lived in Yoxford ſeveral Years, being obliged to leave his native Country for ſeveral Debts he had contracted, till his Creditors agreed to give him Time to pay them; at laſt he followed this Trade about two Years.

"It is hoped that the Legiſlature will take ſome Steps to put a Stop to theſe pernicious Practices, that our own Poor may not ſtarve to ſupply our Enemies. Whilſt I am writing this, I am informed that ſeveral Farmers round our Neighbourhood have ſent their Corn to Dunkirk for three Years paſt, and that they have in Return Brandies, Teas, &c."

The Earl of Hillſborough gave Notice a few Days ſince, in the Upper Aſſembly, that he had an important Motion to make, in the Courſe of a few Days, relating to the preſent critical Situation of Affairs in America.

Letters from Copenhagen adviſe that Colonel Keith, Envoy Extraordinary from England at that Court, having demanded a private Audience of the King of Denmark, in Order to communicate to him certain Overtures he had received from the King his Maſter, relative to the late Revolution, and a Day being appointed for that Purpoſe, Mr. Keith was much ſurpriſed, upon coming into the Audience Chamber, to find, inſtead of the King, ſome Members of his Council of State, who intimated to him that his Majeſty, not being very well, he had charged them to receive what he had to communicate, and give him an Account of it. Mr. Keith made Anſwer, that the Orders he had received from his Maſter were to the King in Perſon, and not to his Miniſters; and that he was not a little ſurpriſed, that, after his Daniſh Majeſty had conſented to give him the Audience he demanded, he ſhould refer him to his Miniſters, which he ſhould not fail to acquaint the King his Maſter with. After which he retired, very much diſſatisfied with his Reception. Theſe Letters add, that Mr. Keith has declared, in a very ſpirited Manner, that if the Queen of Denmark is not treated with all the Reſpect due to her Birth and Rank, the King his Maſter will not fail to reſent it.

Laſt Advices from Copenhagen give no farther Account of the Negotiation there, but inſiſtmate that ſomething material relative to it will tranſpire very ſoon. Theſe Advices add, that it is not doubted but Count Bernſtorff and Count de Brandt will loſe their Heads.

Accounts from Copenhagen, by this Day's Mail, confirm that the Hereditary Duke Cay Rantzau is nominated Envoy from the King of Denmark to the Court of London, where he hath already reſided in that Capacity; and then the Baron Dieden de Furſtenſtein will go from London to Copenhagen.

A Correſpondent obſerves, that it is of ſmall Moment to the Crown of Sweden whether Bluſtendorff or Bluſtedorf is Prime Miniſter at Copenhagen, but it is of mighty Conſequence to us to know if the Siſter of our natural Sovereign be injured. If ſhe is injured, as I willingly believe ſhe is, a Princeſs and a Daughter of Great Britain has a Title to Aſſiſtance from our whole Strength. Will any Man of the preſent Revolution Principle deſire us to remain ſtupid Spectators, or inactive Soldiers? It will be Time enough to gape when we are ſatisfied ſhe has erred; even then (for all Mankind may err) her Dignity and her Youth demand our Protection.

The Jubilee of the Jews, which is held every fifty Years, in Commemoration of their Deliverance out of Egypt, was celebrated on Wedneſday by that People. This Jubilee ſurpaſſed in Show any Thing of the Kind ever before ſeen in this Kingdom, not only from their extraordinary Number in Elsinore, but from an Emulation that ſeems to prevail amongſt the ſeveral Prieſts of the reſpective Tribes, who headed their different Orders, riding upon Jack Aſſes elegantly capariſoned in their Veſtments for this Occaſion, which were not only truly antique, but ſuperlatively ſumptuous. They aſſembled at the Tabernacle in Duke's Place by ſix o'Clock in the Morning, whence they ſet out, according to ancient Cuſtom, on a Pilgrimage to Highgate, the Laity all walking bare footed and bare headed; and Signor Lietti, and ſeveral others of the moſt capital Singers that could be found in Europe, heightened the Solemnity of this Proceſſion, by ſinging ſeveral Anthems adapted to the Occaſion, and accompanied by a Band of Muſick hitherto unequalled for Grandeur upon any Occaſion. When arrived at Highgate, where a temporary Synagogue was erected for the Purpoſe, ſeveral living and other Sacrifices were offered for the Expiation of their Sins, according to the Judaical Inſtitution. This over, they returned in the ſame Manner to Duke's Place, where they held the Feaſt of the Paſſover, and met the ſetting Sun with a religious Jocundity.

It was poſitively aſſerted yeſterday that a Motion would be made in a few Days, in a great Aſſembly, which would be ſtrongly ſupported by a very numerous Body of Members, for bringing the Denmark Affair under the immediate Conſideration of the Houſe.

By a Letter from Copenhagen, dated March 9th, there is Advice that the Commiſſioners who have Charge of inquiring into the Facts laid againſt the State Priſoners have examined all the Letters and Papers delivered to them, but have found none that affect the Queen in the leaſt, and that it is believed ſhe is innocent of every Charge alleged againſt her. As to the reſt of the State Priſoners, it is imagined that their principal Crime conſiſts in oppoſing the Queen Dowager in all her Plans, and it is not doubted but that ſome of them will ſuffer Death. The Letter adds, that the Weather was more ſevere there than has been known for many Years; that the Sea is full of Ice, and it is believed it will not be clear till the latter End of April, or the Beginning of May.

It is ſtrongly reported that Lords Weymouth and Barrington will in a few Days ſet out, on Affairs of Importance, to Ireland.

Twelve Ships of the Line are ordered to cruiſe in the Bay of Biſcay.

We hear that the Parliament will not riſe till after Whitſunday.

They write from the Hague that there are now building, in the ſeveral Ports of France, five Ships of War of eighty four Guns, ſeven of ſeventy Guns, nine of fifty Guns, and eleven Frigates of thirty Guns each.

They write from Stockholm that the Sea is ſo entirely choked up with Ice, on the Side of Finland, that it is expected the Navigation will not be opened till very late this Year.

Lord Temple, it is ſaid, has within theſe few Days been offered a high Poſt under the Government, which his Lordſhip declined.

A few Days ſince forty Bags of Cochineal, the Produce of Weſt Florida, were imported at Briſtol from Penſacola.

Letters from Hamburg mention that two Veſſels were arrived there, which had been making Diſcoveries in the South Seas, who aſſert that their Return was by the North Weſt Paſſage.

April 4. The Peace which was looked upon as ſo near between Ruſſia and the Porte is now conſidered very differently, and it is thought there will be another Campaign. The Turkiſh Divan will abſolutely not accept of the Conditions propoſed by Ruſſia.

Extract of a private Letter from Copenhagen.

"When you deſire a particular Account of the black Scenes tranſacting here, you forget where I am, and the Danger that attends writing too freely on ſo ſlippiſh a Subject. Placed at your Eaſe, in happy England, you think every Land under the ſame juſt Laws, under the ſame benign Government. Alas! theſe bleſſings have not, as yet, warmed this frozen Region; and poor Struenſee will, I am much afraid, be a melancholy Example to what Height of Cruelty the Ambition of a wicked Woman, aided by a powerful Faction, can reach. Your Princeſs, and our Queen, is, I hope, ſafe from perſonal Injury; her Enemies muſt be contented with blackening her Reputation. For this, Thanks to the Terrour of your national Reſentment, and the Spirit of your Ambaſſadour, who thundered in the Ears of their bloody Senate Remonſtrances worthy the Repreſentative of the King of Great Britain. But the Situation of the poor abandoned Count is deplorable. After ſuffering an Impriſonment, ſevere beyond the Conception of an Engliſhman, and enough to break the moſt undaunted Spirit, he was brought before his Judges, or rather his Accuſers, loaded with Irons, pale from Famine and Want of Reſt; in a Word, a horrid, ſqualid Spectre. Long did he reſiſt every Argument, every Threat, that could be uſed to induce him to accuſe the injured Queen. At laſt they ordered him to be led to the Room where the helliſh Inſtruments of Torture were arranged; on Sight of which his Spirit, totally broken and depreſſed, could withſtand no longer, but, in an Ecſtaſy of Grief and Deſpair, he cried out, in French, Human Nature cannot bear this! My honoured, my much injured Sovereign and Benefactreſs, forgive my Weakneſs therein. Heaven will vindicate your Innocence. Then, turning to his Conductors, he deſired to be led back to this Court of Inquiſition, and it is ſaid confeſſed every Thing they wiſhed. Adieu, enough of this horrid Subject, and believe me ever yours, &c."

April 10. Yeſterday ſome Diſpatches were ſent from the Secretaries Office for Falmouth, to be forwarded to Lord Viſcount Gage, Commander in Chief of his Majeſty's Forces in North America.

Great Preparations are making at the Manſion Houſe for the Eaſter Feaſt; and yeſterday a very grand Piece of Confectionary was carried in to be placed upon the three Tables in the Egyptian Hall, many Parts of which are nine Feet high, ſo that the Chandeliers were obliged to be raiſed, in Order to place it upon the Table. The Order in which it is diſpoſed has a very beautiful Effect.

It was reported this Day that Matters are at length accommodated between our Court and that of Copenhagen; and that the Queen, who is releaſed from her Confinement, is viſited twice a Day by Colonel Keith, the Engliſh Embaſſadour.

It is alſo reported that the Count de Struenſee will be pardoned, through the powerful Mediation of a reſpectable maritime Power.

Yeſterday one Hundred and ſeventeen Colliers paſſed by Gravelend, and ſeveral more were in Sight in the Afternoon.

The Subſcription at the Globe Tavern for the Support of Mr. Alderman Wilkes was not ſet on Foot by the Inhabitants or Common Council of his Ward, as has been reported, but by ſome publick ſpirited Gentleman from the Society of the Bill of Rights, who meet there to receive the Subſcription of every Friend to the Cauſe of Liberty. Their Plan is to raiſe ſix Hundred Guineas a Year, by voluntary Subſcription, at the moderate Rate of one Guinea from each Subſcriber; and for this Purpoſe each Member ſolicits his Friends and Acquaintances, and they have ſucceeded ſo well that we hear they have paid the worthy Alderman fifty Guineas a Month for the two laſt Months, and do not deſpair of completing the Year's Plan, by the ſame laudable Exertion.

What follows is a Fact well known in the Neighbourhood of Barkhamſtead. A few Sundays ago ſome choice Spirits from London were regaling at an Inn, when, after Dinner, the Liquor introduced the Love of Frolick. After the burning of Hats and Wigs, it was propoſed to draw Lots which of the Company ſhould be hanged; and, during the Courſe of the Bottle, it was demonſtrated, to the Satisfaction of the whole Company, that it was a Death without Pain. The Lot fell upon a young Man who had but juſt entered upon the fortunate Eſtate of a Bankrupt; however, whether he thought the Advantages of Bankrupcy not ſo great as it is in general believed, or he wiſhed to be in the Faſhion of going out of the World in a String, he determined to die hard, to die like Cock. A convenient Place in the Room preſented itſelf, and in an Inſtant his own Garters furniſhed the Nooſe, the Knot was fixed, and the Chair in a Minute knocked from under him. But, whatever was the Opinion before about his Death being without Pain, the Volunteer Criminal made ſuch a Kicking againſt the Waiſtcoat that the Landlord was brought into the Room by the Noiſe, where he ſaw the Companions almoſt as black in the Face with laughing as the young Man was with the Agonies of Death. The Landlord, aſtoniſhed and diſtreſſed at the Sight, cut down the almoſt expiring Youth, and with the Aſſiſtance of a Surgeon, and proper Care, he is ſince recovered; and it is remarkable, that the firſt Words he ſpoke after he recovered were, I'll be hang'd if ever I do the ſame again.

The following Creations in the Royal Family are ſaid to be in Agitation. Prince William Henry, his Majeſty's third Son, to be created Duke of York; Prince Edward, the fourth Son, Duke of Lancaſter; and Prince Erneſt Auguſtus, the fifth Son, Duke of Clarence.

A certain admired Perſonage, now reſiding in the North, will, it is ſaid, ſhortly be created a Peereſs in her own Right; and every Mark of Attention and Honour, that any Subject can expect, will be conferred upon her.

On Wedneſday Morning laſt, Mr. Preſton, one of his Majeſty's Meſſengers, ſet out from St. James's for Copenhagen; ſaid to be with Inſtructions for Sir Robert Murray Keith, Knight of the Bath, our Miniſter at that Court, to bring or ſend over the Queen to England.

We hear that a celebrated Club, not a Hundred Miles from Pall Mall, who on the Cloſe of the laſt Rebellion ſupplied the Wanderer for ſome Years with an Annuity of five Thouſand Pounds, but who lately ſtopped it on Account of his diſſipated Courſe of Life, have, on a late Letter from him, informing them of his intended Marriage, and future Intentions of Economy, agreed to renew the Subſcription, and have actually ſent him over five Thouſand Pounds, with a Promiſe of the like Sum annually.

It is ſaid that the four Hundred Thouſand Pounds to be paid this Year to Government, by the Eaſt India Company, is not to be applied to the Exigencies of the State, but to the Exigencies of the numerous Poor; a great Perſon having wiſhed that Sum to be appropriated for their Relief, by ſupplying them with Proviſions at an eaſy Rate, proportionable to their neceſſitous Circumſtances.

A Correſpondent ſays, he applauds the Judgment of thoſe who were inſtrumental in having the Bill for the better Obſervance of the Lord's Day printed for the Uſe of the Members of the Houſe of Commons, and hopes it will have the deſired Effect.

Yeſterday a Man, placed on a Hurdle, was drawn by a Parcel of Coalheavers through the City. He had a Noſegay in one Hand, and a Book in the other, with the Price of Coals fixed to his Breaſt; on his right Side was a Butcher's Tray, in which were Joints of Mutton and Beef; and on the left a Tray, in which were ſome Poultry and Fiſh; the Prices alſo fixed to each.

A Correſpondent obſerves, that it is greatly to be wiſhed his Majeſty would not in future extend his Pardon to any Houſe-breaker, the Conſequences of a Lenity ſo ill directed being extremely detrimental to the Community. The many audacious Burglaries which have lately been committed are Facts too obvious and alarming, not to deſerve ſerious Conſideration; and ſurely of all Freebooters there is none more dangerous to Society, or more juſtly obnoxious to condign Puniſhment, than the Midnight Robber, who both invades the Property and threatens the Lives of Families with the brutal Violence of a Ruffian. And to what Degree of Barbarity theſe Villains are capable of proceeding, we have Inſtances too recent and too ſhocking to be eaſily forgotten.

Extract of a Letter from an Officer in the Rochford, Captain Hunt, dated Madrais, September 27.

"We arrived here the 17th Inſtant, having had an agreeable but rather tedious Paſſage of five Months and ſixteen Days. We called at the Cape on the 9th of July, where we ſpent a Fortnight very agreeably. There was at this Place a French Tranſport, with Part of the Regiment of Clare on Board, deſtined for the Iſland of Mauritius; and from her we learned that a French Army of Europeans, conſiſting of ſeven Thouſand Men, were there ready to ſtrike ſome capital Stroke in India. The India Company are now at War with the King of Tanjour, and have raiſed an Army of forty Thouſand Men againſt him, with which they have begun the Siege of his Capital, which contains himſelf, his Treaſure, and his whole Army. It muſt ſoon capitulate, as the Place cannot long reſiſt ſuch a Force."

April 11. A Cauſe of great Importance, relative to the Property of an Iſland called Mill Iſland, has for ſome Days been heard by a Committee of the Privy Council at the Treaſury. This Place lies near Philadelphia, in the River Delaware, and has been ſettled for many Years, though it is alleged that the Property has never been legally granted by the Crown, in Conſequence of which Lord Rochford has petitioned for and obtained it, as far as the King's Right extends; and the Trial now turns on theſe Queſtions, Whether it has not been granted by his Majeſty's Predeceſſors? And whether, after the Term of a certain Poſſeſſion, the Crown has a Power to diſpoſſeſs the Inhabitants? Mr. Dunning is employed for the Defendants, Mr. Wedderburne for the Plaintiff; and yeſterday the Committee conſiſted of the following great Perſonages: The Duke of Queenſbery, Lord Denbigh, Lord Suffolk, Lord Weymouth, Sir Thomas Sewell, Lord Gower, Lord Pomfret, Lord Hillſborough, Lord Le Deſpencer, Mr. Rigby, and Mr. Welbore Ellis.

Some beautiful Samples of the Cotton Manufactory now carrying on at Philadelphia have been lately imported, which are greatly admired.

They write from Cork that ſeven Veſſels, laden with Wheat and Flower, from North America, were in Sight of that Harbour when the Poſt came away.

Extract of a Letter from Ratiſbon, March 23.

"They write from Tranſylvania that there will be four Encampments this Year; and although there is already a pretty large Number of Auſtrian Troops in that Province, four Hungarian Regiments have received Orders to march there. Large Magazines are alſo forming at Koniggratz, Prague, and other Towns of Germany. Theſe Advices aſſure that they only wait the Anſwer of the Court of Peterſburg for fixing the Place for holding the Congreſs, and ſettling the Time when the Suſpenſion of Arms ſhall be publiſhed. The Porte has nominated Buchareſt, and Ruſſia Jaſſy; but as both theſe Places are in the Power of the Ruſſians, it is preſumed this Difficulty will eaſily be removed. The Porte, however, it is ſaid, cannot bring itſelf to the Reſolution of declaring the Crim independent. It is aſſured alſo that the Affairs of Poland will likewiſe be ſpeedily terminated, provided the Diſſidents will deſiſt from ſome of their Claims."

They write from Conſtantinople that the Grand Viziar having received Advice that the Ruſſians intend opening the Campaign by beſieging Ochzakow, is augmenting and repairing the Fortifications of that Place with the utmoſt Expedition. It is ſaid that the Viziar intends beginning with an Attack on Giurgewo. He has been ſome Days in Siliſtria, and taken proper Meaſures to hinder the Ruſſians from making any Excurſions on this Side the Danube. Numbers of Recruits daily arrive at his Army, which is much more conſiderable than it was at the Opening of the laſt Campaign.

Extract of a Letter from Warſaw, March 14.

"Since the Arrival of two Couriers to the Ruſſian Ambaſſadour here the Hopes of a Peace ſeem to vaniſh, and it is feared to be further off than it was thought to be ſome Time ago. A foreign Court ſeems much inclined to favour the Peace, but the Propoſals of the Ruſſians are very difficult to be accepted. By the Preliminaries, Moldavia and Wallachia are to be ceded to the Turks; the Crim Tartars and their Neighbours are to be declared a free People, exempt from all Protection, and their Fortreſſes not to be occupied by foreign Troops. Turkey is to pay the Ruſſians for Expenſe of the War eighty Millions of Lyons Dollars; but Ruſſia would not accept theſe Preliminaries, and has ſent Lieutenant General Klupt with a Body of twelve Thouſand Men, which, joined to General Romanzow's Troops, who are near Slonim, Brezs, and Piſtk, will reinforce the Ruſſian Army conſiderably. Poland is alſo comprized in the Preliminaries. The Confederates are to put an End to all their Operations; the Nation is to hold a free Diet, without being troubled by any foreign Troops; and the Government of the Republick is to be regulated and eſtabliſhed on a durable Foundation.

From Belfaſt we learn that the Rioters are now moſtly diſperſed; near three Hundred of them have been apprehended, and are in different Priſons in Order to be tried.

The Caroline Yacht is now fitting out in the River, in Order to fetch over from Holland the Queen of Denmark to England.

To the worthy LIVERYMEN of the City of LONDON.

GENTLEMEN, GUILDHALL, April 6, 1772.

HAVING now completed more than ſix Months of the Year, which you aſſigned us for an important Office, we deſire your Acceptance of our hearty Thanks for the Aſſiſtance we have received from you in the Diſcharge of our Duty, and entreat the Continuance of your Support and friendly Counſels. We have, from Time to Time, ſubmitted our Conduct to you on a Variety of Occaſions, and to the laſt Moment of our Sheriffalty are determined that every publick Tranſaction in which we may be concerned ſhall be given, in all its Circumſtances, to our candid and diſcerning Conſtituents, to whoſe impartial Judgment we will always cheerfully appeal.

The new Freeholders Book for the County of Middleſex, and the Jurors Book for the City of Weſtminſter, have been, from the Beginning of this Year, depoſited in the proper Offices, and are now always uſed. The Jurors Book for the City of London is not yet completed, and we fear cannot be perfected before the End of Eaſter Term.

The Bailiffs, and other inferiour Officers of Juſtice, have been ſtrictly watched, and regularly kept within the Bounds of their Duty, except in ſome few Inſtances. The Parties aggrieved have, in every ſuch Caſe, found the moſt ſpeedy Relief. We have the Satisfaction of reflecting, that, the Extent and Populouſneſs of our Juriſdiction conſidered, the Applications for Redreſs, of any Kind, have not been numerous; and we owe it to the publick Character of your Sheriffs to declare, that not one has proved ineffectual, when the Complaint was well grounded. Few Grievances have come to our Knowledge, none have been left unredreſſed. We think it becomes us to make this Appeal to our Fellow Citizens, while the Power ſtill remains in our Hands to do Juſtice to every Perſon.

Our particular Attention has been beſtowed on the many unhappy Objects under our Care in Jails, Priſons, and lock-up Houſes. We have frequently, in Perſon, attended this eſſential Duty, and afforded every Alleviation in our Power to the Miſeries of thoſe who languiſh under the Loſs of the nobleſt Bleſſing, and moſt valuable Enjoyment, perſonal Liberty. We may congratulate our Countrymen that the Number of theſe unfortunate Perſons has not been attempted to be increaſed this Seſſion, by any illegal Royal Proclamations, or Commitments during Pleaſure, made by either of the two Houſes of Parliament. Their late Uſurpations on the perſonal Rights and Privileges of the People ſeem to be given up, and ſurrendered. The Lords have not dared ſo unconſtitutional an Order of Impriſonment, nor to impoſe any Fines at their arbitrary Will for Offences cognizable by Juries. No Man has been committed at their Bar for what their Votes, not the Laws, declare ſeditious, nor for what they ſo readily find a Libel on a Brother Peer; nor have they ventured to condemn any Perſon on the firſt original Hearing of a Cauſe, which ought to come before them only by Appeal from the inferiour Courts, after the Verdict of a Jury. The Houſe of Commons have tacitly acquieſced in the Claim made by many of our worthy Fellow Citizens for the People at large, that the Conſtituents of this Kingdom have a Right to be fully informed of all the Proceedings of their Servants in Parliament. Their Votes, indeed, aſſert, "that it is an Indignity to, and a Breach of the Privilege of the Houſe, for any Perſon to preſume to give, in written or printed Newſpapers, any Account of Minutes of the Debates or other Proceedings of the Houſe, or of any Committee thereof;" but the Uſurpation was apparent, as well as the Indignity to their Maſters, and the Breach of the Privileges of their Conſtituents.

Among the Number of daily Offenders of this Kind, the Majority in the Houſe of Commons have not preſumed to commit a ſingle Printer, although by the late Royal Marriage Bill they have invaded the primary inherent Rights of human Nature, and the divine Inſtitutions, in the Perſons of the Deſcendents of the late moſt excellent King; and, regardleſs of the Cries of the ſtarving Poor, employed themſelves this whole Seſſion only to enſlave the Family of a Prince whoſe Memory becomes every Day more dear and ſacred to all true Engliſhmen. The People are now made the Judges of the Conduct of their Repreſentatives; and the full Exertion of the Liberty of the Preſs, the great Bulwark of all our Liberties, in Support of the Conſtitution, with the other Acquiſitions for the Publick, will render this Era ever memorable in our Annals. Theſe Triumphs over the miniſterial Faction we hold more important at this Period, becauſe they have been gained when the chief Magiſtrate of the Capital had betrayed the Rights he was choſen to defend, and trampled upon the known Privileges of all the Electors of this great City, which his upright Predeceſſor vindicated with true Spirit and Courage. Many Friends of the Cauſe of Liberty we know are apprehenſive that the late Uſurpations will be ſoon renewed, or at leaſt in the following Year. We entreat them not to deſpond, nor to indulge that gloomy Idea. During our Continuance in Office, we will ſtand forth the Protectors of the juſt Privileges of the Subject. Your Virtue, Gentlemen of the Livery of London, will, at the enſuing Midſummer, give us Succeſſours equally zealous and undaunted in the Cauſe of Freedom and our Country. We are, Gentlemen, with great Deference, your obedient and faithful humble Servants,

JOHN WILKES.
FRED. BULL.

ANECDOTE of the late PRINCESS DOWAGER of WALES.

HER Highneſs walking in her Garden at Kew, obſerved one of the Labourers very melancholy, of whom ſhe immediately inquired the Cauſe. The Man readily informed her Highneſs that he had juſt loſt the greateſt Comfort he had, which was a fine Boy his Wife had long nurſed for a worthy Tradeſman in London; who, from Misfortunes, had failed in Buſineſs, and could no longer afford to pay for the nurſing of the Child, therefore had that Morning ſent for it away. The amiable Princeſs inquired the Particulars of the Tradeſman's Name, Place of Abode, &c. and then diſmiſſed the Labourer, with a Mark of her Approbation for his apparent Tenderneſs and Diſtreſs. The next Day ſhe ſent and inquired into the true State of the Tradeſman's Affairs, Character, &c. which ſhe found ſatisfactory, and the next Morning bleſſed his Sight with a five Hundred Pound Bank Note. "I believe (ſays the Writer) there now lives an honeſt Tradeſman in Fleet Street who has Gratitude enough to read this Anecdote with infinite Satisfaction."

KINGSTON (JAMAICA) April 18.

THE Modeſte Man of War, which arrived at Port Royal on Friday laſt from a Cruiſe, was, we hear, near being loſt; for going down on the Main, to the leeward of Carthagena, ſhe unfortunately touched upon a Reef, where ſhe beat her falſe Keel off, and was obliged to throw ſeveral of her Guns and Stores overboard, but luckily, after continuing there near forty Hours, ſhe got off. And, what is more agreeable to relate, they, by Aid of a new refracting Inſtrument, invented by the ingenious and worthy Commander, got their Guns, Stores, and even their falſe Keel aboard; ſo that we hope to ſee it recorded, in the future Annals of naval Hiſtory, that Captain Wheelock, of his Majeſty's Ship of War the Modeſte, was the firſt Commander that entered a Port with his Keel on his Deck.

CHARLESTOWN (South Carolina) May 11.

ON Monday laſt ſailed for Cadiz the Spaniſh Tranſport Frigat Diana, which put in here from the Havannah, in Diſtreſs, the 31ſt of December laſt. This Ship had on Board three Companies of the Royal Iriſh Regiment of Foot, in the Spaniſh Service, under the Command of Don Hugo O'Reilly, and was one of ſeveral Tranſports ordered to carry back the Troops ſent to Spaniſh America on the Apprehenſion of a Rupture between Great Britain and Spain; which, on the happy Termination of the Differences between the two Courts, were remanded to Europe. There is too much Reaſon to fear that one, if not more, of the ſaid Tranſports, foundered at Sea, and every Perſon on Board periſhed.

A Quantity of Indian Corn, near twenty Thouſand Buſhels, has been imported here, ſince our laſt, from Pennſylvania and Virginia, which, though not near ſo good in Quality as the Corn of this Province, is ſold at twenty two Shillings and Sixpence the Buſhel. We are told more of this Grain is ſtill wanted. (A Dollar is valued at thirty two Shillings.)

The Brigantine Robert and Elizabeth, belonging to Cowes, Breading Boyle Maſter, which ſailed from this Port for Liſbon the 3d Inſtant, with about three Hundred and eighty Barrels of Rice, ſprung a Leak the ſame Evening in a Storm; and making a great Deal of Water, the Maſter attempted to get into Georgia, but on the Morning of the 5th Inſtant the Veſſel got aſhore, and is entirely loſt, with all the Cargo. The People are ſaved.

The Sloop Betſey, Simeon Freeman Maſter, and ſole Owner, from Jamaica, with Rum and Sugar, for Boſton, was totally loſt the 25th Ultimo on the Iſle of Pines.

BOSTON, May 11.

IT is ſaid that the ſeveral Ships which from Time to Time have ſneaked out of this Harbour are gone to cruiſe on the ſouthern Governments, to prevent their trading, like Freemen, with People againſt whom the Laws of their Country have not prohibited their Commerce. Query, whether Seizures on the above Footing are not Piracies, for which the Captors ought to be hanged.

Extract of a Letter from a Gentleman in London, received by one of the laſt Ships.

"It will be the Criſis of War in which America muſt vindicate her violated Rights; it has been my earneſt Wiſh that ſhe might be prepared for that favourable Moment. For this Purpoſe, the eſtabliſhing a Correſpondence among the ſure and able Friends of Freedom in the different Colonies might be effectual. By this Means you might preconcert the proper Meaſures, ſo as to be prepared; you know what Efficacy Union has already given to your Meaſures. In the Event of a War, to harmoniſe in refuſing Supplies, or any other Co-operation neceſſary, this Country would not fail to ſecure to you any Bill of Rights you could demand."

Extract of a Letter from a Gentleman of publick Character in London, March 16.

"It is conſidered that the Drawback upon Tea will not be continued after the 5th of July next."

From the above, we may expect that the Act laying a Duty on Tea in the Colonies will be repealed the preſent Seſſion of Parliament.

PHILADELPHIA, May 25.

LAST Thurſday Evening was married the Honourable Richard Penn, Eſquire, Governour of Pennſylvania, to Miſs Polly Maſters, a young Lady, not only of a humane and benevolent Diſpoſition, but poſſeſſed alſo of every other Quality that renders a female Character reſpectable.

Laſt Week Mr. Iſaiah Mills, of Salem, Weſt New Jerſey, who had been blind of both Eyes with a confirmed Gutta Serena, was reſtored to his Sight ſo far as to be able to read, or to do any Kind of Buſineſs, by Doctor Graham, Oculiſt and Aurift in this City. Mr. Henry Slupter, of Kent County, Maryland, was likewiſe perfectly cured of a ſtubborn Deafneſs and Noiſe in both Ears, with which he had been afflicted for many Years. Mrs. Rivel, in Front Street, who was couched for Blindneſs ſome Time ago, ſtill enjoys her Sight perfectly clear and ſtrong. Thirty four Perſons have been cured of different Diſorders in their Eyes and Ears, by the ſame Gentleman, ſince the firſt of this Inſtant May. The Multitude of miſerable Objects, blind, deaf, and dumb, who crowd to this City from all Parts of the Continent for the Doctor's Aſſiſtance, is, we hear, very great.

By Captain Inkſon arrived here yeſterday in ſixteen Days from Grenada, we are aſſured that his Excellency Governour Leyhourne had iſſued a Proclamation a few Days before he left that Iſland, ſetting forth, that if the Frenchmen did not take the Oath of Allegiance to his Majeſty, within twenty five Days from the Date thereof, they muſt depart from that Iſland, except they can give ſufficient Reaſons for the contrary.

By Captain Scott, in ſix Weeks from Liſbon, we learn that about ten Days before he ſailed there was a ſevere Shock of an Earthquake felt in that Place, which alarmed the whole City very much; and about ſeven Days afterwards they felt another Shock, but not ſo violent as the former.

WILLIAMSBURG, June 11,

WEDNESDAY ſe'nnight, in a Gale of Wind and thick Weather, a Schooner from Philadelphia, John Kerr Maſter, bound for Portſmouth, deeply laden, was drove aſhore at the Mouth of Currituck Inlet, and beat to Pieces. The People were ſaved, but chief of the Cargo will be loſt.

The Charming Nelly, Carnaby, from London, and the Naſſau, Wignall, from Liverpool, are arrived in Rappahannock River; the ———, Clark, from London, in York River; the Phœnix, Lamont, from Glaſgow, and the Dick, Pearce, from Liverpool, in James River.

The General Aſſembly which ſtood prorogued to the 25th of this Month is further prorogued, by Proclamation, to the firſt Thurſday in November next.

On Tueſday laſt, at the Court of Oyer and Terminer, Joſeph Nix, from Mecklenburg, for burning Priſon, and Moſes Moſs, from Pittſylvania, for Murder, were brought to their Trials, and both acquitted.

The two Criminals who received Sentence of Death laſt April (Peter Coffigon, for Negro ſtealing, and Richard Thompſon, for Horſe ſtealing) about three Weeks ago received his Excellency the Governour's moſt gracious Pardon, upon their entering themſelves on Board his Majeſty's Ship the Boſton, Hyde Parker, Eſquire, Commander, then bound for England.

[Deaths.] Mrs. ELIZABETH TARPLEY, of this City, aged ſixty one; a Lady of the moſt amiable Character.

Captain BREAKHILL, of the Ship John, belonging to Liverpool.

FREDERICKSBURG, June 2. On Friday the 22d Ultimo died at his Houſe in this Place, after bearing the excruciating Pains of the Rheumatiſm, for three Months, with a Fortitude and Patience that does Honour to human Nature, Mr. ROGER DIXON; a Gentleman in whom the Paſſions were ſo purely and delicately mixed, that, though ſubject to be ruffled, as in other Men, they never in him produced any bad Conſequences. "He bore Anger as a Flint bears Fire;" and upon the leaſt Show of Contrition, though ever ſo much injured, Reſentment was no more. Revenge, Envy, and Malice, never once gained Admiſſion into his Heart, that Seat of every ſocial Virtue. He was a Friend to all Men, and univerſal Benevolence and Hoſpitality made every good Man a Friend to him; who will doubtleſs conſole with his diſconſolate Family for the irreparable Loſs of the fondeſt Huſband, the tendereſt Parent, and the kindeſt Maſter.

Advertiſements.

THIS MAP comprehends the whole Country that lies between the thirty fifth and forty ſeventh Degrees of Latitude, and the ſeventy ninth and ninety fourth Degrees of Longitude; in which the great Rivers Miſſiſippi and Ohio with the numerous ſmaller Streams which empty into them, as well as the Lakes Erie, Huron, and Michigan, are accurately delineated; every conſiderable Town of the various Indian Nations, which inhabit thoſe Regions, with the EXTENT of their reſpective Claims, are alſo particularly pointed out.

This Map contains an Extent of more than eight Hundred Miles in Length, and nearly ſeven Hundred in Breadth, which is not excelled, and hardly equalled, by any Country on the Face of the Earth, for its Beauty and the Fertility of its Soil, and which muſt ſoon become a moſt important and very intereſting Part of the Britiſh Empire in America. The Author aſſures the Publick that a great Part of the Country, and moſt of the Rivers and Lakes, are laid down from Surveys, corrected by the Obſervations of Latitudes, carefully executed by himſelf, on the Campaigns he had the Honour of ſerving during the Whole of the laſt War, and the Department he has been conſtantly employed in ſince the final Treaty with the Weſtern and Northern Indians, in 1764.

This Map, which is delineated on a Scale of twenty Miles to an Inch, ſhall be neatly engraved, and accompanied with an Analyſis, or a particular Deſcription of the Face of the Country, its Lakes, Rivers, Timbers, Soil, and Climate. The Whole to be ready for Delivery as ſoon as the Subſcribers amount to a Number adequate to defray the unavoidable Expenſe of the Publication.

As the Author has been particularly requeſted, by a Number of Gentlemen, to undertake and publiſh this Map, and one Hundred Subſcribers are already engaged, he wiſhes, for more ſpeedily accompliſhing the Deſign (and as the Work is meant and intended for the general Benefit and Information of his Majeſty's good Subjects) that thoſe who may think proper to encourage it will, as ſoon as poſſible, ſend their Names to the Poſt Office in Williamſburg, Virginia.

POETS CORNER.

The TRIP to PARIS.

Spoken by Mr. SHUTER, at one of his Benefits.

I'm former Times there's held one Ariſtotle,
Who, as the Song ſays, lov'd, like me, his Bottle;
[illegible] he was Tutor.
[illegible] you ſurpriz'd to hear the learned Shuter?
But let that reſt—a new Tale I'll advance;
A Tale—no Twiſt—Men, I'm juſt come from France.
To Paris I came; why I went there, no Matter,
[illegible] I'm on this ſide the Water,
Then to this Theatre Wager that hurried me over,
But I wiſh'd to be off, when I came down to Dover,
[illegible] Sea Water, the Doctors will tell ye,
Put the Sight of Salt Water at once fill'd my Belly;
They who chooſe it for Phyſick may drink of the Sea,
But only to think on't is Phyſick for me.
[illegible] on Board, Lord! I heard ſuch a Racket,
[illegible] and Squabbling, fore and aft, through the Packet;
[illegible] bawling, the Sailors yo-ho-ing,
[illegible] the Winds aloft blowing;
[illegible] and ſome ſwearing, ſome ſinging, ſome ſhrieking,
[illegible] Blocks rattling, the Yards and Boom creaking;
[illegible]—But the Tars, never minding our Cafes,
Took their Chews, ſpirt'd their Tripſters, and grinn'd in our Faces.
[illegible] ſoon, and were ſoon ſet on Shore,
[illegible] of French Ground, where I ne'er trod before.
[illegible] chang'd, 'twas no more yo, yo-ho,
[illegible] ſuch, yes, Boy——or damme Tom, no!
[illegible] Compliſance,
[illegible] welcom'd to France!
[illegible]—they cry'd——ſo as was he
[illegible] Servant, Sir, we glad to ſee you;
[illegible] before in my Rambles,
[illegible] like Flies in the Shambles.
[illegible] at firſt I was loath,
[illegible] ſauce me, and ſouſe me for Broth.
[illegible] my Lo Anglterre,
[illegible] your then ſeen my Strut and my Stare!)
[illegible]—and put on a Sword;
[illegible] Shuter turn'd into a Lord.
I crouſhed at France all the World and his Wife,
[illegible] ſo before in my Life.
[illegible] there, I was told by Monſeer;
[illegible] Things there were wonderful queer,
[illegible] and queer Houſes, with People much queerer,
[illegible] One was a Talker, but no One a Hearer,
[illegible] enough of their Fellowſhip;
[illegible] Phraſe to ſome Folks, but Nonſenſe to me.
[illegible] there ſee dreſs'd in a Toy-ſhop-like Shape,
[illegible] Habit, 'twixt Fiddler and Beau;
[illegible] Heads too, ſuch Coats and ſuch Shirts,
[illegible] ſome Ruffles, but I found the Shirts.
[illegible] as to their Dinners, their Soups, and their Stewings,
[illegible] Meat ſerves for ten Gallons of Brewings!
[illegible] of roaſt Beef how my Mind was a-gog!
[illegible] they ſtrouſh'd me a fricaſee'd Frog;
[illegible] it, it wa'n't fit to eat,
[illegible] Stairs I limp'd, and ran into the Street.
[illegible] could make me determine
[illegible] I found it was Taſte to eat Vermin.
[illegible] be fine, and their Grand Monarch clever,
[illegible] and King George, and Old England, for ever.
